Vol. I. EDMONTON, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1920. 241

What is New Power Co? | Great Storm on English Coast | Harvey is Chief Justice

IS OFFER OF POWER TO THE CITY ONLY SIDE ISSUE OF COMPANY?

Believed That Edmonton Heat and Power Company is Backed by Outside Capital—Imperial Pulp Company Controls Many Square Miles of Pulpwood Along the River, and They Need a Plant to Develop It—Power Company Only a Cloak?

It is now generally understood that the proposition of the Edmonton Heat and Power Company to supply the city of Edmonton with electric energy is but a side issue with the promoters. In the draft agreement with the city submitted to the city commissioners some time ago, the names of those interested in the company were all local, but it is thought now that outside capital is backing the scheme, including Peter McLaren, the mill owner lumberman of Ottawa, and the Imperial Pulp company, which with the Hon. Clifford Sifton and T. A. Burrows are connected.

As the Capital understands, the Imperial Pulp company controls about 18 square miles of pulpwood along the Saskatchewan river, which is as yet undeveloped.

It is their intention therefore to establish a plant for the development of their own resources, about 72 miles east of Edmonton on the Saskatchewan river. Their reason, as the Capital was informed, for offering to supply the city with power is in order to assure the obtaining from the Dominion government of reasonable water privileges for the establishment of their plant.

The impression is gained in some quarters that as the supplying of power to the city is but an idea of second

Hon. Horace Harvey, the new chief justice, was born in Toronto on Oct. 1, 1865. He was graduated from Toronto University and was called to the Ontario bar in 1889. He practised in Toronto until 1903, when he removed to Calgary.

In 1906 he was appointed registrar of titles for Alberta under registration in the district of Calgary. He filled this position until 1910, when he was appointed deputy attorney general of the Northwest territories at Regina. In June, 1914, he was appointed judge of the Supreme Court of the N.W.T., and on the organization of the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan and the establishment of provincial courts in 1907, he was appointed justice judge of the superior court of Alberta.

DID "SPIRITS" TAKE THIS WITNESS OFF?

Strange Disappearance of Man Who Was to Give Evidence in Court.

IS A CLAIM FOR DAMAGES

Woman Sues C.N.R.—Fell From Car, for There Was No Platform.

A dainty witness caused the adjournment of the trial of the case of Carswell vs. Canadian Northern Railway in the District Court this morning. When all but the last witness had been called it was found that he had disappeared from the waiting-room whither all witnesses in the case had been ordered. Mr. Robertson, lawyer for the plaintiff, suggested that he might be found in a neighboring bar room as he had turned off his having such proclivities.

"My learned friend accused me of spiriting him off, but he seems to have 'spirited himself away,' was his comment."

The plaintiff, Mrs. Carswell, claims damages to the extent of $24 for injuries received when alighting from the C.N.R. train on the evening of July 6, 1919. The first class coach was not pulled up to the platform, the custom being that passengers should go forward through the second class coach and alight onto the platform itself. The door of the front vestibule of the first class coach was not closed and the plaintiff alighted from this car from which there was a drop of nearly six feet and was severely injured, being unable to attend to her duties for some months.

The evidence of the witnesses agreed on most points, that there were no steps taken to provide against a contingency by the railway company. The question of the plaintiff's carelessness was open to dispute.

Among the witnesses in the box was Mr. Williams, an Edmonton lawyer, who happened to be on the train that evening and to alight immediately before Mrs. Carswell.

Mr. Simmonds practiced law for a number of years at Cardston, moving to Lethbridge about six years ago. When Dr. Denebar was appointed to the Senate, he successfully contested the Lethbridge constituency for the Alberta legislature, winning out by a small majority in a three-cornered contest. In 1908 he resigned to accept the Liberal nomination for the Dominion riding of Medicine Hat and was defeated at the general election of that year by C. A. Magrath, M.P. He is one of the many natives of Bruce county, Ontario, who have made good in the West, his old home being near Elnor.

SEVERAL ALDERMEN DON'T LIKE AID. LUNDY'S MARKET SCHEME

Suggestion That Temporary Market Building be Erected on Rice Street, Does Not Meet With General Approval—"It's Always a Pre-Election Topic," Says Ald. McKinley—Mayor Doesn't Care to Express an Opinion.

A week or so ago, Ald. Lundy resurrected the market building matter and advanced the opinion that a temporary building should be erected on the city property bounded by Rice, McDougall, Elizabeth and Queen's avenue, which is being reserved as a site for a city hall.

In Ald. Lundy's opinion a market building is a necessity.

"It is necessary to make accommodation for the farmers and others who come to town to market their produce," said Ald. Lundy to the Council. "On some days there are as many as 25 rigs lined up there, and in bad weather it is very uncomfortable."

"Besides that," he continued, "there are many produce merchants in the vicinity of the market square who leave their stores on the understanding that a market building would be erected. So it is unfair to them, as well."

"It will be at least three years and probably five before a city hall will be built. It would not be advisable for then and a temporary market building could be erected now which would be of service for that length of time, and also it could be built in such a position as not to interfere with the construction of the city hall. It could be used until the city hall was ready to be opened."

Mayor Lee was asked his opinion. "You've got an awful nerve to come to me and ask me about the market building," he replied disdainfully. "Well, but what is your opinion on it?" asked the reporter.

"I don't want to talk about the market building," said the chief magistrate.

Ald. McLennan is not in favor of it. "There isn't the demand for a market building," he said, "and besides, many of those who do come to the market produce would never take advantage of it unless the weather was acting badly."

GREAT STORM STREWS COAST OF ENGLAND WITH WRECKAGE

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.) London, Oct. 14.—The English coast is strewn with wreckage as the result of a storm that has continued for two days. The casualty list is already reported to be a long one.

This morning five seamen from the coasting steamer Granford were picked up off Hartlepool. It is believed that the vessel, which carried a crew of 20, foundered, and that the men were attempting to reach shore in a small boat when they were lost.

Some wreckage coming ashore indicates that a sailing ship met a like fate.

Lifboats from many points were all in sight and in some instances affected rescues. In other cases they were unable to reach the distressed craft.

BORROW, 100-6, WON RIDDLE PARK PLATE

New Market, Eng., Oct. 14.—The Riddle Park Plate six furlongs, the winner of which often supplies the favorite for the Derby of the following year, was won today by Borrow, 100 to 6. (Pier), heavily backed at 15 to 1, was second, and the highest mounted Seaford, 5 to 4, was third.

ONTARIO SEAT WILL GO TO CONSERVATIVE MAN

Guelph, Oct. 14.—At a mass meeting last night of working men it was decided not to place a candidate in the field in the pending bye-election in South Wellington. Lack of funds and the shortness of the time for organization were the reasons advanced. It is now practically certain that the Conservative nominee, Mr. J. Rossion Hewitt, will be given the seat by acclamation.

WHAT HAPPENED TO MR. VENNING?

Canadian Superintendent of Fisheries Has Dropped Out of Sight.

WAS AT HAGUE TRIBUNAL

Last Seen at Brussels Fair—Police Aiding in the Search.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—The officials of two continents are at present engaged in a search for Mr. Robert N. Venning, Canadian Superintendent of Fisheries, who has been mysteriously missing for the past month. Since the conclusion of the fisheries case between the Canadian and American governments at The Hague he has not been seen.

With other Canadian officials, Mr. Venning left several months ago for The Hague to attend in his official capacity the sessions of the tribunal sitting on the enquiry. Mr. Venning was present at all the sessions, and was apparently in his usual good health, remaining until the conclusion of the arguments. Since that time, however, he has disappeared, and the most thorough and urgent enquiries by officers of the department, the Dominion Police, Scotland Yard, and the State Department of Holland have failed to reveal his whereabouts. Hope is entertained by his friends in the city that he may only have been seized with a temporary illness, and is recuperating at some watering place. The last place at which he was seen was the Brussels Exhibition.

Mr. Venning is a native of St. John, N.B. He entered the Department of Marine and Fisheries in 1899, and has held many important commissions under the department, being one of its best known and highly trusted officials.

Ready to Fire the First Gun

The first gun in the Y.M.C.A. campaign to raise $3,000 to wipe out the 60th on the Association's building and to provide for the enlargement of the plunge bath, together with other greatly needed improvements, will be fired on Monday night next at 6:30.

The captains of the teams which will conduct this campaign have been selected and they are at the present moment engaged in running up the followers, whose assistance is essential to the success of the effort.

The newspapers of the city will publish each day's results and will show them by the use of a barometer. In addition to this an enormous clock, which will be electric lighted will blaze forth the results of each day's canvass from the top story of the Y.M.C.A. building.

Each evening supper will be served to the workers at the building and plans for the succeeding day's effort will be discussed.

PARROT, MISTAKEN FOR MAN, INTERRUPTS A WOMAN'S BATH

Then the Human Pat, Hearing Name Called, Rushes in Where He Should Fear to Tread.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 14.—Pat is a parrot owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harrison. This afternoon, noticing that the door of his cage was unlocked, Pat made for the window and perched on the sill of an adjoining bathroom window.

Inside there was much splashing and feminine laughter. Nora, the maid, was giving her young mistress a bath. Not finding the soap in its place, she called to her husband, whose name happened to be Pat.

"Fetch the soap, Pat, and be quick about it."

"The parrot, hearing his name, dashed in, and, mistaking the soap for a woman, he began to squawk and to flap his wings.

"Hearing the sound from the outside, both women screamed and swooned, thinking some one was endeavoring to enter by the fire escape. The man Pat, hearing the commotion, dashed to the bathroom and made matters worse, especially for the young woman, by breaking into the room."

WITNESS DIDN'T KNOW

Called to Prove an Alibi, and he Admitted He Was not in Remembering State.

Three months at Fort Saskatchewan was the sentence passed on Eric Schultz in the police court this morning by Magistrate Cowan, for stealing a fur-lined overcoat belonging to Charles Blaney from the Nova Scotia house.

Schultz and another man, it seems, got drunk together on Tuesday morning last and during the afternoon the theft of the coat occurred. Schultz partner was in such a condition during Thursday night that he did not know what was going on, and Schultz produced him as a witness to explain where he was during the afternoon. The partner was unable to do so.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1910.

COURAGEOUS COLONEL SAM.

Col. Sam Hughes, M. P., who visited us the other day, had this to say in Winnipeg:"The farmers who presented their petitions to Laurier, asking for free trade, were not representative of the West. The average Canadian farmer is well satisfied with protection and I went West on a political campaign. I would undertake to whip the free trade farmers into line and make them understand that they would be more benefitted by protection than any body else. The farmers who advocate free trade are nothing but American free traders who have come and settled in Canada."Colonel Sam is one of the Eastern friends from whom Western Conservative members would like to be delivered. He may consider himself a wonder on the stump, as on the field of battle, but he would have a task ahead of him in persuading the Western farmer, who knows what a fine
degree of exactness just what he pays for the benefit of the Eastern manufacturer, that protection is the thing for him. How can protection afford in any way the price of what he has to pay? The Colonel speaks of "free trade farmers." As a matter of fact,
none of the farmers asked for free trade. All that they wanted was a lower tariff. Their demands could not have been more reasonable. In a letter to the Toronto Globe, Mr.
George Langley, M.P.P., of Maymont,
who has been prominent in the movement, is very explicit in stating what he wanted."One of the things that has vexed the soul of the farmer," Mr. Langley writes, "has been the conduct of the Canadian manufacturer when he does business outside the Dominion. In Australia, in the Argentine and in Great Britain, he sells the very same implements we buy at a price considerably less than he charges his own countrymen, and so the Western farmer is taxed by the tariff so that cheap implements may be sold to his competitors in other countries. To any man of average intelligence such a condition of things borders on the farce, and a body of men who would tamely endure it might be directly branded as inefficient. And in reference to the heavy tariff on woollens and cottons, and especially the former, nothing has been stated that gives any satisfactory explanation to the farmer. In regard to this also there is no demand for free trade.
The Eastern manufacturer and his employee, like the Western farmer,
has to pay his share of the indirect taxation, and the farmers of the West
have no desire at all to sacrifice themselves to the foreigner or the Old Countryman. All that is asked is that the duty shall be a reasonable one.""Our complaint against the manufacturer of woollens is that he makes no attempt to use the tariff to protect the market, but uses it entirely to enhance the price, so that the protective element in the tariff is used not to help competition, in which case the consumer might have some benefit,
but transforms it into an instrument of extortion, and the heavy additional price thus added to these indispensible commodities, goes as an enforced tribute from the Western farmers to the Eastern manufacturers.""These undeniable facts make plain the wants of the Western farmers. It is not a commission of enquiry which must of necessity be composed largely of manufacturers, and the other interests in sympathy with them that we want, but an early lowering of the tariff as it affects these two vital items. The tariff on implements should be lowered to as to average 12½ per cent. and the British preference should be raised from 33-1/3 to 50 per cent. There is a political aspect of this question which, as an active Liberal, I think of the greatest importance, but for the present I pass that by."On what does Col. Hughes base his statement that Mr. Langley and his friends are not representative of the West? We know that the leading newspapers of each party have endorsed them, that requests for a lower tariff were made at all points alongTo Pay Rent is a Waste of Money—Own Your

Kirkpatrick and Pate,

gation from the towns stood along side those from the country. What more is wanted?When Colonel Sam at the next general election undertakes to whip
Western farmers into line on the tariff issue, there will be more fun on the programme than there was even when the exploits in South Africa of a certain dauntless military celebrity
and his man Turpin were under discussion at Ottawa.Senator Roy's many Edmonton friends will extend to him hearty congratulations, if the report is true that he is to succeed the late Hector Fabre
as Canadian commissioner to France.
The post is one of the most important in the gift of the government and it has been the intention for some time past to extend its scope. The business connections which Senator Roy has established in recent years in France has enabled him to get closely in touch with conditions there, all of which would help very much in the discharge of the duties of commissioner. Rumor also has it that Mr.
Forget, the late lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan, would succeed him in the upper house. It would be strange if this proved the case. Mr.
Forget can hardly claim to be an Albertan man and the province is entitled to four senators. Besides after twelve years at Government House, Regina, and a long period as Indian commissioner before that, it would strike most people that he had had a fairly large share of public honors.A prominent Toronto man, Mr. W.
E. Wellington, in a request in his will that no mourning be worn for him by relations or friends. This is undoubtedly one of many directions in which a change must come in our methods of honoring the dead. Emeral reform, with the lessened display and expense, makes great progress each year. As for the custom which requires the family of a dead
person to appear themselves in sombre black, for a stated period, immediately on the expiration of which they rush back to gay raiment, it is one which cannot possibly appeal to a healthy-minded man. There are deep prejudices, of course, to overcome in this connection, but they are not even now what they once were.

SIR THOMAS VISITS CITY.

For the first time we are contending with Edmonton as the point furthest north on our sphere of operations. Said Sir Thomas Shaanessy
vice president of the C.P.R. who paid
a short visit to the city yesterday afternoon while on a tour of the company's lines.
With him were his two daughters
and several officials of the company, including R. B. Angus and C. R. Hos-mer, members of the board of directors. With him were also J. E. Switzer, chief engineer, and A. Price, superintendent of the Calgary division.
They arrived in Strathcona at three o'clock and drove in motor cars over to Edmonton. Sir Thomas was non-committal in his replies as to the future operations of the C.P.R. in the north, and said that the C.P.R. had no plans at present but that he could not speak for the future.
Referring to the high level bridge he said that he hoped to see it completed in a year from now. The delay in the work was unfortunate, but this was not the fault of the C.P.R. The Har-disty branch through daily service he said, would be opened next spring
when the company had had time to repair the track.
Sir Thomas expressed his surprise
at the marvellous way in which Edmonton had grown and said that as a mixed farming district it was without an equal. "The party left last evening for Wetaskiwin where they spent the night.
The opening of the new line from Hardisty will require the building of an additional round house in Strathcona. Plans have been prepared for the building of a 36-stall round house,
to be built early next year.
Mr. White said that he would like to see the city start on the construction of the Jasper subway. "At present," he said, "the road at our Tenth street yards is in a very bad condition and something should be done with the unpaved portion of the street."

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Edmonton Doctors Accused of Giving
"Booze Permits" Indiscriminately.Calgary, Oct. 13.—That the law regulating the sale of liquor in the north is being ruthlessly transgressed was the complaint made by Rev. C. C.
McLaurin, superintendent of the Baptist church in Alberta. The law as it stands at present permits a man to bring two gallons of liquor into the north country tri-weekly, providing he can produce a medical certificate.
"I know there are doctors in Edmonton who systematically give permits to anyone who asks for them," said Rev. Dr. McLaurin, "without even asking questions as to the health of the applicant. They charge a fee of $1, but if the liquor is obtained at a certain store only 50 cents is charged.
You know what that means."
Mr. McLaurin said that he knew of 60 gallons going up to Ground on one boat, which represented thirty permits. The effect of it was that the peaceful little settlement into a place of bedlam. There was scarcely a sober man in the place. This riotous living continued until the liquor was gone."From personal enquiry," continued
Mr. McLaurin, "I have discovered that permits have been issued in the name of citizens who were ignorant of the fact."Mr. McLaurin also spoke of the lack of educational facilities in the north.
"In Ground," he said, "where there are a hundred children of school age,
there is only a small mission, accommodating six to ten children. There are not any fully qualified teachers in the community."TENDERS FOR PILE DRIVING

"MYSTERIOUS" MITCHELL IS THE COAST SENSATION

Keeps His Identity Dark—Splendid Pitcher and Superb Batter—Many Guesses as to His Right Name

"Who is 'Mysterious' Mitchell?" That is the question that every baseball fan on the Pacific coast, old and young, male and female, white and black, has been asking ever since a sturdy, handsome young fellow, of undeniable college education, made his debut into the ranks of Pacific Coast league players.

About a month ago, while the San Francisco team was playing in Portland, a mysterious stranger approached the captain of the San Francisco team and with much show of dignity and confidence asked for a position on his pitching staff.

"Try him out," was the instruction issued to one of the catchers. The stranger jumped into a uniform and was given a most severe tryout. At its conclusion the catcher tersely reported:

"He'll do. He has everything." Terms were agreed upon, and the man was asked where he had worked. If he told, the secret has been well guarded, for to this day the general public does not know for a certainty what his name is, where he learned the game, or where he had been.

On the contract his name appears as P. Mitchell. The San Francisco team was scheduled to play in Los Angeles after its Portland engagement; therefore it was two weeks before the local fans had an opportunity of seeing him. Little was thought of about him; in fact that he had even signed was practically forgotten, until one day he was given his turn in the box at Los Angeles, pitched a double-header, won both games and batted like a fiend.

Then everybody began to ask the question:

"Who is Mitchell?"

The Los Angeles correspondents for the San Francisco papers were overwhelmed with rush orders for pictures and interviews, and when they tackled the job they found that they had bumped up against another eighth wonder—a baseball player who shunned publicity, who would not speak to the reporters and threatened the photographers with violence if they attempted to take his picture.

That simply stimulated curiosity, and when the mysterious one showed on the diamond in this city for the first time a whole flock of photographers swarmed on the field, but like their brethren in the north, they were doomed to disappointment. Mitchell was scheduled to pitch that day, but he positively refused to come out and take his place on the grounds until the photographers had been driven off the field. Several of the better equipped photographers took long-distance snaps at him, but none has been able to secure a faithful photograph.

Mitchell has been variously identified as Bob Mitchell, who had a brief engagement with the Chicago White Sox; as Fred Mitchell, a Mississippi college pitcher; as McQuillen, a suspended National League pitcher, and as Fred Walker, formerly of the University of Chicago. The latter seems to be the best identification, but Mitchell has said nothing to indicate that it is correct.

And still the question is being asked, "Who is Mitchell?" Undoubtedly he is the greatest mystery in organized baseball. "Ringers" frequently have appeared in the bushes, but rarely, if ever, in a Class A organization.

ESKIMOS HAD WORK-OUT.

By far the most satisfactory practice yet held by the Eskimos was that of yesterday afternoon. With the exception of Alec Macdonald, who is out of town, everybody trying for the team, was out. About two hours of brick training was participated in, including a long drill in the new signals.

Combs, the new outside wing, did some fast following down. Scrapper Macdonald also being conspicuous. Crickmore improves quickly at quarter and by the end, should be playing like a veteran.

Coch Belanger and Captain Gilson have changed the players around considerably. The half-back division consisting of Wilson, O'Donahue, Grant, Dykes and McCarthy, is coming along wonderfully under coaching and should gain many yards in the next game with their machine-like play.

The make-up of the scrimmage is at present an open question. Violette, formerly of Ottawa college, turned out last evening and should make a valuable man to hold one of the Tigers' lousy scrimmagers.

A full practice is called for tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

Those out last night were: Dykes, O'Donahue, Wilson, Grant, Crickmore, Barnes, Violette, Roughton, Kennedy, C. McDonald, Parselle, Starke, Gibson, Coombs, Conway. The absentees were Bishoprie, McCarthy, Alec Macdonald and Murphy.

PHILLY, LOSSES AGAIN.

Philadelphia, Oct. 14.—Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, refused to be interviewed after yesterday's game, which resulted in another win for the All Stars this time by a 6-2 margin.

Philadelphia tried out Krane today in place of Pink, and his work was fully up to the standard of the other Philadelphia slabs, both of whom were touched up freely, allowing eleven hits all told.

Philadelphia's fielding was a big improvement over Wednesday's performance and the hitting was decidedly better, though all the luck in this department was with the All Stars, who played errorless ball. (The score:)

CONNIE MACK HAS SHADOW

McInnis Sits on the Bench and Dopes out the Visitors' Weaknesses

Ask the fan to name Connie Mack's ablest assistant, and it's 20 to 1 he will pick the wrong man. Ask a dozen men who follow baseball and its myrmidons, and the result would be an even break between Captain Harry Davis, and the brilliant middle-sacker, Eddie Collins, says an American exchange.

Now both stars are able assistants of the great Connors. But when you go to a game, where the Athletics are picturing the pastime, glue your orbs to a square-jawed youngster whom you will find sitting in the lee of the manager.

In him you will discern the fifth wheel of the Athletic coach. His name is Jack McInnis, and a couple of weeks ago he reached the mature age of 20. His particular forte is calling the offensive and defensive strokes with which the antagonists of the Mackmen endeavor to offer a barrier to the march of Connie's legion.

McInnis, if the occult be given a halfplay, is the seer of the American league. His ability to fathom the intention of the opposing players is little short of supernatural. Not to mere prophesies does he confine his uncanny power.

No, indeed. He can tell the turn on what is to happen, as he has done, time and again. Here is a concrete illustration of Mack's weird power in the games.

Cleveland and the Athletics were tussling through a series in Shibe park. The pennant had not been passed to the Mackmen and every game counted. The iron-jawed youngster, apparently the most unconcerned person on the bench, sat with one knee forming a physical fortress to the intensity of his gaze.

This glance was roving about, and ever and anon he'd whisper to Mack. The tell-tale, scorecard, the means of communication between Mack and his players in the field, would wigwag and the fielders would move in one direction or another. The batter would hit the ball, and a player who a moment before had shifted, would be in the way. Had he not moved the ball would have gone for a hit, or a difficult chance.

Keenly knew the player shifted position because Mack signalled him to do so. But the Athletics knew it was the inspiration for the change.

In the series quoted as illustrative, the uncanny power of "Little Jack" he called the turn 20 times on the batters. Not once was he wrong. Mack's faith in his cub's strange gift is as broad as his own personality. This man, who has directed the destinies of ball clubs and watched the players at their wage-earning, says McInnis the best natural player he ever knew.

Not is it because of the gift of divination that Mack makes this signpost. McInnis is the best pinch hitter on the team. He goes to bat in a pinch and it makes no difference who is on the slab, the mightiest Johnson or veriest badman, he hits one as readily as the other. In six games he has hurried into the breach, and he made good.

McInnis' daring on the bases against Ed Walsh in the royal 14-inning game against Coombs, was responsible for the run that tied the score, when it seemed no earthly power had a chance against Chicago's moist mystifier.

As a player McInnis is a wonder, and equipped with this power to divine another fellow's hand before he plays it, makes him the greatest instinctive player in the game. If there be second sight, McInnis' astral eyes are even better than the brown ones which flash his emotions to his fellow players.

GREAT FALLS IS KEEN TO ENTER

C. J. Eckstrom Visits the Montana City—New League Seems a Certainty

Great Falls, Oct. 13.—Thoroughly imbued with the idea that an international league composed of Montana and Western Canadian cities, would be a big winner, C. J. Eckstrom, president of the Western Canada league last year, arrived in Great Falls on Saturday night and at once made himself known at the Home Plate cigar store.

Within a short time Manager Hargrave and a number of members of the 1930 team were in consultation with him and before he left it was with the understanding that a meeting should be called some time this winter to make the necessary arrangements, if possible, and to fix up a satisfactory league financially.

There has been talk of a state league in Montana, and this, too, would be satisfactory instead of the international league if it was considered anywhere near as good a proposition financially. The ghost has to walk on pay day—railroad tickets have to be purchased—advertising bills have to be paid, and added to this is the enormous appetite of the league to be expanded. With expenses running high, a good check account necessary to defray all bills, sentiment has to be divorced from baseball nowadays when it comes to forming a league.

It is believed, however, that the international league would be a winner, not alone because of the rivalry which would naturally exist between the various teams, but also because of the fact that when war exists between the two countries as to which should carry away the pennant honors. Rivalry of the right kind, is a great asset in any league. It brings out the big crowds when nothing else will, and it keeps the players on edge all the time.

It is to be hoped that some satisfactory arrangement will be made so that Great Falls and other cities can be assured of good baseball games next year. The fans are anxious to see the sport and perhaps no one thing has more of a tendency to place a town on the map and keep it there than a good baseball team.

From here President Eckstrom went to Chicago, where he will witness the world's series between the Cubs and the Philadelphia Americans. Mr. Eckstrom will also attend the games played in the Quaker city.

CLEVELAND BEAT CINCINNATI.

Cleveland, Oct. 12.—Cleveland (Americans) and Cincinnati (National) teams opened a three game series for the Ohio state championship here yesterday, which resulted in a win for the American league nine by a score of 5 to 3. Cleveland won by superior hitting. Burns being reached for a total of eleven hits, five of them in the third innings, in which period Laioe smashed out a triple with three bags occupied and two men out. This feat coupled with the semi-official announcement that he had beaten Cobb in the tottering race for the automobile made Laioe the hero of the city today.

The score:

R.H.E.
Cleveland 5 11 3
Cincinnati 3 7 2
Joe, Coffer and Adams; Burns and McLean.

CUBS GOT THEIRS.

St. Louis, Oct. 14.—Philadelphia isn't the only city that is feeling bad tonight. There is some sadness in Cincinnati also on account of the Browns taking yesterday's game 11 to 6. The loss makes no difference in the league standing to be sure, but the Cubs needed a grand stand finish for their team in order to have their followers on edge for the world's series next week. McInnis started in to pitch but after seven runs were scored off him in three rounds he was derrick-ed, and Pfeister sent in to finish the game. He fared slightly better, but was weakening perceptibly in the first stages, but good fielding saved the day. The score:

St. Louis 4 21 0 213-11 14 1
Chicago 3 0 1 10 21-8 16 1

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE LYCEUM
The Sherman Musical Comedy Company at the Lyceum Theatre, presented a complete change of program, producing for the first time in this city one of the greatest laugh makers of Tom Beeson's repertoire entitled "A Million a Minute."

The accompanying stage setting and scenic effects for the proper production of the play has necessitated for the management the outfit of a large amount of money.

"A Million a Minute" is a neat affair of music and humor and with all the pretty costumes that have been laid out for the chorus will make this one of the best dressed musical shows that Edmonton has ever seen.

There is plenty of real comedy which is absolutely lacking of any suggestiveness and is of a nature seldom seen in this kind of a show. Everything is quietly done but there is so many big laughs which come so fast you are hardly out of one until you have fallen head over heels into another.

The entire company has been placed in god parts and with the ability they have already shown it is a safe bet to say this is one of the prettiest shows from every stage of the game.

COMING EXTRAORDINARY ATTRACTION.

One of the greatest treats ever placed before the public has been brought to the city by Starland Ltd., the popular and enterprising caterers of Western Canada and will be exhibited in their theatre on Monday and Tuesday next. The title of the film is "The House with Closed Shutters," the same having enjoyed phenomenal success wherever shown and universally accorded to be the greatest production of its kind in the world. The theme of the story, which is a masterpiece on the comparison between courage and cowardice, will live and have an uplifting effect on the lives of those who see it long after the picture itself has been forgotten. The battle scenes, which are on a most elaborate scale, are taken from actual incidents in the great struggle between the North and the South and reproduced in a manner graphic and realistic in the extreme, while the heroic bravery of a girl who undertakes the perilous task of delivering the despatch right through the thick of the fight, will stir the emotions to the very depths. We understand no rise in the price of admission will be made and it will be therefore within the reach of all to witness this marvellous picture.

The CONQUEST OF CANAAN

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "Cherry," "Housewife Decides," etc.

Copyright, 1906, by Harper & Brothers

"What were you doing at Jonas Tabor's?" asked Joe, detaching his coffee with a brightening eye.
"We were sent for," she answered.
"What for?"
She tossed the bread attentively without replying, and when she decided that it was brown enough piled it on a warm plate. This she brought to him and, kneeling in front of him, her elbow on his knee, offered for his consideration, looking steadfastly up at his eyes. He began to eat ravenously.
"What for?" he repeated. "I didn't suppose Jonas would let you come in his house. Was he sick?"
"Joe," she said quietly, disregarding his questions—"Joe, have you got to run away?"
"Yes, I've got to," he answered.

"I'm not going to beg father to help me out," he said determinedly. "He said he wouldn't, and he'll be spared the chance. He won't mind that; nobody will care! Nobody! What does anybody care what I do?"
"Now you're thinking of Mamie!" she cried. "I can always tell. Whenever you don't talk naturally you're thinking of her!"
He poured down the last of the coffee, growing red to the tips of his ears. "Ariel," he said, "if I ever come back!"

"Wait," she interrupted. "Would you have to go to prison right away if they caught you?"

"Oh, it isn't that," he laughed sadly. "But I'm going to clear out. I'm not going to take any chances. I want to see other parts of the world, other kinds of people. I might have gone, anyhow, soon, even if it hadn't been for last night. Don't you ever feel that way?"

"You know I do," she said. "I've told you—how often! But, Joe, Joe, you haven't any money! You've got to have money to live!"

"You needn't worry about that," returned the master of $7 genially. "I've saved enough to take care of me for a long time."

"Joe, please! I know it isn't so. If you could wait just a little while—only a few weeks—only a few, Joe!"

"What for?"

"I could let you have all you want. It would be such a beautiful thing for me, Joe. Oh, I know how you'd feel. You wouldn't even let me give you that dollar I found in the street last year, but this would be only lending it to you, and you could pay me back some time!"

"Ariel!" he exclaimed, and, setting his empty cup upon the floor, took her by the shoulders and shook her till the empty plate which had held the toast dropped from her hand and broke into fragments. "You've been reading the 'Arabian Nights'!"

"No, no!" she cried vehemently. "Grandfather would give me anything. He'll give me all the money I ask for."

"Money?" said Joe. "Which of us is wandering? Money? Roger Tabor give you money?"

"Not for awhile. A great many things have to be settled first."

"Joe," she asked earnestly, "do you think it's bad of me not to feel things I ought to feel?"

"Then I'm glad," she said, and something in the way she spoke made him start with pain, remembering the same words, spoken in the same tone, by another voice the night before on the veranda. "I'm glad, Joe, because I seemed all wrong to myself. Uncle Jonas died last night, and I haven't been able to get sorry. Perhaps it's because I've been so frightened about you, but I think not, for I wasn't sorry even before Colonel Filcroft told me about you."

"Jonas Tabor died?" said Joe. "Why, I saw him on the street yesterday!"

"Yes, and I saw him just before I came out on the porch where you were. He was there in the hall. He and Judge Pike had been having a long talk. They'd been in some speculations together, and it had all turned out well. It's very strange, but they say now that Uncle Jonas' heart was weak—he was an old man, you know, almost eighty—and he'd been very anxious about his money. The judge had persuaded him to risk it, and the shock of finding that he'd made a great deal suddenly!"

"I've heard he'd had that same shock before," said Joe, "when he sold out to your father."

"Yes, but this was different, grandfather says. He told me it was in one of those big risky businesses that Judge Pike likes to go into. And last night it was all finished, the strain was over, and Uncle Jonas started home. His house is only a little way from the Pike's, you know, but he dropped down in the snow at his own gate, and some people who were going by saw him fall. He was dead before grandfather got there."

She put her hand on the boy's arm and he let it remain there. Her eyes (To be Continued.)

ABOUT TOWN.

One of the largest cinematograph machines in Canada has just been received by the Edmonton branch of the Temperance and Moral Reform League of Alberta, to be used in educational campaigning.

At the Strathcona police court this morning a local confectioner and fruit vendor was fined $10 and costs for being drunk and disorderly. An other man, evidently a vagrant, was given half an hour to get out of town.

Mr. W. S. Duncan, the newly appointed teacher of painting and drawing in Alberta college, will give an exhibition of his work in his studio in the college on Saturday 12th at 3 p.m. Those interested in painting and drawing are cordially invited to attend.

Robert Brown died last night at the Isolation Hospital of tuberculosis. The funeral will be held on Sunday at 1:30 p.m. from the parlors of Connelly and McKinley and will be conducted under the auspices of the Caledonian society, of which Mr. Brown was financial secretary.

The body of Angus McMillan, subcontractor on the G.T.P., who died at a camp west of here has been brought to the city and taken to the parlors of Connelly and McKinley. His two sisters have arrived in Edmonton and will accompany the body back to Detroit, Michigan.

The Young Men's club of the Wesleyan Methodist church held their second meeting for the year and discussed the business for the coming months. The meetings will be held every Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. The following officers were elected: Mr. E. Allen, president; Mr. C. Linton, first vice-president; Mr. L. Y. Cairns, second vice-president; Mr. H. Watson, secretary.

The regular meeting of the Maritime club for the month of October will be held in the Separate school hall on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. An important business will be held before the club and all Maritime province people interested are urged to be present. Among other special features of the entertainment will be an address by Mr. A. F. Felling, barrister, on the "Life of Daniel O'Connell," and readings by Miss Cecil Smith, principal of the School of Expression Alberta College.

Land taxes paid on or before Thursday the 20th instant will be allowed five per cent discount, after said date until the 30th November three per cent discount will be allowed. Taxes will be accepted at par during December. On 1st day of January 1911 five per cent penalty will be added to all unpaid taxes and another five per cent on first day of July following. Penalties can be paid, penalty on arrears of taxes for the year. Taxes are levied for the year from first January to 31st December.

Commissioner Beaulieu is taking steps to reduce by half the strip of land at present occupied by the right-of-way allowances of the C. N. R. and the G. T. P. between the eastern boundary of the city and the C.N.R. depot on First street. In letters written to the two railways he suggested that the two railways run into the city over one track and dispose of the other half of the right of way to factories or wholesale stores, desiring to locate along the line. The G.T.P. has already signified their willingness to do so, but Mr. D. D. Mann vice president of the C.N.R. has hinted in a recent letter that there is no need for haste. Against this, Commissioner Beaulieu has most emphatically protested, pointing out that the question of subways and crossings can be more easily solved with only one track than the present doubtful right-of-way.

PERSONAL.

The news of the death of A. M. Campbell of Stonewall, Manitoba, has been received with much regret by many friends in Edmonton. He was for some years principal of the high school here, but later took up farming and made a great success of it. He was recognized as an authority on agricultural topics and when three years ago Manitoba and Alberta decided to investigate the cattle trade, he was selected as the representative of the government of the former province on the commission. It held sittings for several days in Edmonton.

LONG TALK BY 'PHONE

In about one month's time Edmonton will be able to speak to Spokane by phone. Telephone connections are established between Edmonton and Spokane, a distance of 480 miles and the charge is $3 for three minutes. The Kootenay lines will be extended south to Kingsgate and connect with the Rocky Mountain Bell telephone system and so through to Spokane and the charges will be something in the neighborhood of $3 per three minutes. It is now Saskatchewan's turn to unite Alberta and Manitoba and so link the West together.

CLOSING THE BOOKS

Preparations are in progress around the city offices for the close of the fiscal year on Oct. 31, and in arranging matters to facilitate the centralization of civic accounting according to Commissioner Beaulieu's scheme.

DATE IS CHANGED.

It was announced by folder that the United Aids would make a special effort to provide any applicant ill-clad for the winter with suitable clothing as far as possible, the day for distribution being fixed for the 17th to 22nd inst, inclusive, but owing to the bad weather this week the addition to their premises was delayed. The present accommodation being so limited they desire everyone interested to note that the date of distribution is postponed until Nov. 1 and will continue until Nov. 4. The enlarged store room will enable the ladies to handle the clothing with greater convenience.
